CARA JOHNSON
Fell 2017

'To me, preciousness is a leaf.
Through its colours, that gently become.
How it shies me when the wind shivers.
And then, once fallen its quiet return to the ground.'

Cara's practice is concerned with fragility and preciousness and it addresses the presence of human impact on the landscape. Her background in Gold and Silversmithing has influenced the way she considers the value of materials with thoughts of connecting them back to nature.
